

This year Immaculate Conception Cathedral School is celebrating 125 years of Catholic Education. You are a part of the excellence and strong tradition of this community. As we honor our past, we are planning for the future and building the ICCS of tomorrow.

This fall, ICCS initiated “Building on Tradition” and announced the goal of raising $3.5 million. The capital campaign is a parish project endorsed by Bishop Glen John Provost and Monsignor Jace Eskind, and embraced by our Cathedral community. Reaching our goal will enable us to construct an additional building on the same land where St. Charles Academy once stood. The addition will house four classrooms, student restrooms, a state of the art library equipped with a technology center, a chapel and additional rooms for fine arts, as well as for students with special needs.

We are asking you to become actively involved in this campaign. I would appreciate your prayerful and careful consideration towards supporting our Building On Tradition Campaign through a donation. Rich in values and tradition, Immaculate Conception Cathedral School has been providing excellence in Catholic education for more than 125 years. This capital campaign will help ensure the future of our Cathedral school while providing the much needed expansion to our school campus.
